

Fiona Barratt-Bailey - TTS Student: 2004 - 2009

Current role: Credit Risk Analyst

Career pathway:

I studied French and Economics and Bangor University and lived in France for a year as part of the course. After graduating I moved to London and started at Bank of America Merrill Lynch on a graduate scheme. I currently work as a Credit Risk Analyst.

Advice for students:

Completing an internship or insight week can really make you stand out to companies running graduate schemes. Make sure you get involved with activities at university; holding a committee position, representing your course or setting up a society can demonstrate great work-related skills such as leadership, teamwork and organisation. In addition, a part-time or summer job will give you some great experience to talk about during competency interviews and shows you have motivation and drive.

Plans for the future:

I'd like to stay in banking but perhaps move more towards Relationship Management.

Best memory of your time at Thomas Telford?

There were so many highlights to TTS but the trip to Paris with A Level French was a real standout experience!
