The suggested method of travel is as an expedition group by train to North Wales and back. You will be met at the train station that you're route starts from. On return the train you catch will depend on what time you finish - see below. It is better to book a ticket without specified times for the last day.

The Plan

This is your final expedition. You will have an external independent assessor/moderator who is local to the area and has not been part of your training. In addition to your expedition aim you must complete the planned journey as smoothly as possible, dealing with problems as they arise ( they will !!! ). Remember that your equipment, food and camping skills also form part of the assessment.

You will have checkpoints during the expedition using a combination of cards, meeting points and distant observation.

Allow a total of approx £21 for camp site fees which you pay each evening.
